To celebrate eighteen 'glorious' years in the trade, No Exit Press is reissuing 18 of its classic titles. With a competition for booksellers, book trade promotions and advertising, gorgeous poster material, a great range of titles and even a party, everyone will have something to celebrate!

It's the oldest story in the world: Boy meets Girl, boy loses girl, boy gets girl. But when the boy is Nick Sharman, and the girl has a violent ex-jailbird as an old boyfriend, who promises extreme retribution on anyone who gets involved with her, it's never going to be that simple...and both Sharman...and the girl are looking at a lot of trouble. What with a bent brief planning an audacious multi-million pound robbery with a bunch of heavy duty thugs in tow, a beautiful sister who's a fast track CID officer, and enough ordnance to stock the Woolwich Arsenal, the scene is set for a savage and bloody confrontation under the streets of the City of London which ends literally explosively, with only one man standing. And guess who that is?

"...As British as a used condom in a fogbound London taxi..." - The Observer

"...Full of cars, girls, guns, strung out along the high sierras of Brixton and Battersea, the Elephant and the North Peckham Estate, all those jewels in the crown they call Sarf London ..." - Arena

"...The plot races along like a salsa dancer – a guilty pleasure..." - Guardian Unlimited

In his almost twenty year writing career, Mark Timlin has written twenty-seven novels under six different names, innumerable short stories, including one anthology, plus articles on various subjects for various newspapers and magazines. He has made many friends, a few enemies, and had more laughs than two barrow loads of monkeys. His serial hero, Nick Sharman has appeared in a TV series for Carlton Television starring Clive Owen, only to be axed for excessive violence.

He is now crime reviewer for the Independent on Sunday, lives in Docklands overlooking his beloved South London, drives a massive Lincoln Town Car, collects old vinyl, crime novels, and watches far too much daytime TV.
